PASSAGE EUROPE

REALITIES, REFERENCES. A CERTAIN LOOK AT CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPEAN ART

Lorand Hegyi

The Passage d'Europe exhibition held at the Musée d'Art Moderne in Saint-Etienne Métropole addressed the question of the duality of languages and visions of the world. It chose to do so by presenting, on the one hand, a range of aesthetic approaches taken by young contemporary artists from countries that have recently joined the European Union, using as their subject the present condition of their countries, in whose artistic life they participate, and on the other a selection of great historical figures who still have an influence on today's art. Far from being a simplification and a dangerous distortion of the art of the East, Passage d'Europe actually provided a penetrating exploration of the "terra incognita" that artistic endeavour in this part of the continent still appears to be. Divided into five separate themes, the exhibition brought together the works of some sixty artists and provided a fresh "global-European" viewpoint, reflecting the considerable variety in the art of the region and underlining the importance of the role of history, politics, and economics.
